YOUNGSTER'S ESCAPE FROM JUVENILE HOME

It was reported by the Juvenile Detention home late Sunday night that two boys, William Eaten, aged 14, of 105 Glenwood avenue, and Fred Triplett, aged 15, of Crew street, escaped from the institution sometime during the evening by sawing their way to freedom through a plaster ceiling. The boys were confined about an hour before they made their escape. Night superintendent J. L. Poindexter reported the affair to police and asked aid in apprehending them.

'Clear Skies Ahead--Clouds Gone' Business Outlook for This Fall

"Merchants' Week" Is Ushering in a Period of Growing Faith in the Soundness of Our Business Conditions, a Faith Based on the Successful Outcome of the Battle of the Past Year.

BY JAMES J. RAGAN

President Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

"Merchants' Week"—the big semi-annual merchandise event fathered by the Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers association, which will hold the center of the city's commercial stage for the five remaining days of this week, means more for Atlanta than that for which the average man in the streets gives it credit.

This time especially does it reach beyond the plans and purposes which brought it into existence.

It is the herald of a new prosperity. Not only the firms and lines represented by the membership of the M. & M. are affected—it is the entire commercial and industrial world of this city that is quickening to the touch of a renewed and returned prosperity.

Not the headlong and hurrah prosperity of two years ago, but a prosperity that is built on steadfast purpose and earnest endeavor.

This statement is not made merely on the strength of the better feeling of the past few days due to the increasing price of cotton. There is a deeper reason. It lies in the minds and hearts of the people of this section. Our returning prosperity can be more properly shown as the cause, rather than the result of this rise in cotton.

To illustrate:

"Atlanta people have something in their systems that New Yorkers certainly lack. For three days I have been around and among your biggest business men and it has been three days of business tonic for me. I am going back to New York and tell them to cheer up."

This was the statement made by a large New York manufacturer to an Atlanta jobber about two weeks ago—before the recent jump in cotton—so his impression was not based on any business stimulant. Continuing, he said:

"Certainly the south has had a hard enough blow to develop a good case of business gloom—it came swifly and suddenly, and it, no doubt, rocked the very foundation of your business structure as it did ours in the north—but instead of business gloom, I find business sunshine.

"Down here, when you talk about it at all, you speak of business depression in the past tense, and fear seems to have been entirely overcome and eliminated. Not so with us.

"You people are better losers than we are—and when the situation if shifted down to the last shake, that probably is the real answer.

"We have all taken our losses—we had to, both north and south; but the man who can forget his loss the sooner is the one who can pull himself together sooner and start over. You people have shown that you are the best of losers. You have taken your loss, accepted the inevitable and you have your worries behind you—we are still looking back and lamenting and carrying our worries along.

"We pride ourselves on our push and progress, but I am afraid we have too many fair weather talkers and too few foul-weather fighters. You have the right idea and I am going home and tell my people to cheer up."

This is the estimate placed upon us by an outside business man whose interests cover the entire country.

Let us try and live up to it now that the tide has turned, for it is the manner in which we have lived up to it that has made the tide turn.

Public Control Makes Utilities Public Wards

The day has passed when we can shut our eyes and stop our ears to the claims of the utilities companies. The fact that they have become the objects of rigid control by the public makes them also, in a sense, public wards.

The distrust which in former days attached to them has passed away with all, save a few people, who still think it popular to insist that public utility companies have no rights and that to speak a word in their defense is to be guilty of an impolite act.—The Washington Herald.

Bird-Potts Company Well Established As Welding Engineers

The welding business is more or less an infant industry, but one that is growing in leaps and bounds. In all new developments there are many who try to accomplish things that they do not understand, but with the years of study the Bird-Potts company, Inc. of Atlanta, has given in research to this business their patrons are practically assured of first class work.

Thononany is located at 267-378 Marietta street. Its members have been identified with the welding business dating from the first machine that came in the south. They have kept pace with the welding industry in all its phases, electric arc and electric spot welding, oxy-acetylene welding and cutting, also the thermite welding. They also conduct a large radiator repair department, where they repair, rebuild and rebuild all types and sizes of radiators. In their new building they will also add additional departments for repairing bodies and fenders and numerous other repairs.

With their portable machines of all methods, when the piece is too large to send to the welding building, they send their portable machines to the work in the field. They are known over the entire south, having accomplished work of every description, large and small, for some of the largest engineers and manufacturers in the south. They build storage tanks of any capacity, either at home or in the field, also gasoline companies and truck tanks.

The Bird-Potts Company, Inc., are members of the American Welding Society, which is the highest authority in the emergency fleet welding committee. This society is doing wonders to develop welding in all its phases.

The Bird-Potts Company, Inc., are the southern representatives for General Electric arc welding machines and the Thompson spot and butt welding machines.

JELICO COAL CO. GIVES COAL ADVICE

These very warm days are apparently crowding out thoughts of the cold ones soon to come—and retarding the work of coal dealers in putting in a supply of coal in Atlanta households for the winter months. However, it is very important that orders be placed as quickly as possible in order to insure having the necessary coal when the cold weather arrives.

Among the coal companies in the city ready to furnish coal for any high-grade domestic coal is the Jellico Coal company, which maintains an office at 43 Peachtree street for the convenience of the public. Their domestic coal is mined at Wilton, Ky., in the famous Jellico fields, and is declared to be very high in heat units and low in ash. This coal is screened after reaching Atlanta, say officials of the company, thereby rendering it entirely free from dirt and slack.

W. D. Moore, manager, states that if the householder is wise he will

Big Accounting Firm Has Branch Offices In Number of Cities.

In a recent issue of The Southern Lumber Journal two pages are devoted to a clever write-up for Giraldin-Fink-Cammen, Inc., public accountants, who are well known in Atlanta. The following is quoted from the article:

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that we announce to the members of the lumber trade office the firm of Giraldin-Fink-Cammen, Inc., with head offices in St. Louis, have this month established under their southern offices in Atlanta, Ga., a resident office in Savannah, Ga., and at a later date contemplate additional offices in Florida at Tampa and Miami.

"Although needing no introduction, it may be well to call attention to the fact that the firm is one of the largest of certified accountants operated in the east and of their particular kind, the largest in the world. It was therefore with a most hearty welcome that they received the order of the Georgia Lumber Association when they opened their offices in the Healey building. In addition to the opening of their offices at Savannah and Jacksonville, they have also extended their activities to Birmingham, Ala., and are preparing a similar move in Mobile and Columbus, Ga. In looking over the territory this firm also recognized the worth of the famous pig section, they immediately taking steps for the establishment of offices at Mobile and New Orleans. This concern will have, as mentioned above, direct representation in all of the above mentioned states, which is the first time that any prominent firm of certified public accountants have conducted business in this manner, by opening offices in practically every one of the principal states in the south.

"By a recent conversation with one of the officials of this great organization it was learned that they do not confine their activities strictly to accounting, they being closely connected with one of the largest bond houses in the east and wish to state to the general public that they are therefore equipped with all facilities for handling any issue, whether it be state or municipal."

WARE MUCH PLEASED AT BIG MAIL ORDERS

A. B. Ware, president of the Luckie Furniture company, and the Hotel Equipment company, is greatly pleased over the business his houses have been receiving lately. He states that during the past week his companies have received more mail or orders for furniture than for any week in the history of the companies. In one day's mail they received four orders for furniture. He also states they shipped one order of two cars to Hendersonville, N. C., one car to Auburn, Ala., and seven part car shipments to colleges.

not delay longer putting in his winter's supply, for it is estimated that there is only about a six weeks' supply of coal in the city of Atlanta under normal demand.

TAMPIO OIL MEN TO RESUME WORK

American Companies to Operate After Agreement on Differences
With Mexican Government.

Mexico City, September 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Immediate resumption of oil operations in the Tampico region by American petroleum companies and the payment of postponed taxes, with the lifting of the government embargo upon the company's funds and oil in storage, will result from an agreement reached by government officials and the heads of five American oil concerns. There will be an immediate movement of oil from Mexico and, after minor details have been adjusted, a settlement will be reached of all the great petroleum problems which have vexed the Mexican government and American development companies for years.

The agreement reached in late Saturday night, has the complete sanction of President Obregon, who has subscribed to a "happy and satisfactory solution to all concerned." The American oil men who participated in the conferences asserted that they were contented with the results obtained and were prepared to leave immediately for the United States. "Confidence in the Mexican government and five great American oil companies looking toward an adjustment of the oil situation in Mexico of recent decrees regarding the export of oil from Mexico have been terminated," said a formal statement given out early today by Adolfo de la Huerta, secretary of the treasury. "The result of the conferences has been satisfactory without damaging the interests of the Mexican nation or a decision favorable to both parties has been reached."

New Regulations.
"It has been agreed that in new regulations on charges for export taxation of oil, created by the decree of June 7, last, it will be arranged that payment may be made up to December 21, next. Payment of these taxes will be made every three months, and the company was established by the decree. There will remain a few points in detail to be discussed, but which the oil companies have agreed to accept after studying certain information and data," after their representatives have arrived in New York city. When they return, the details of the agreement will be definitely arranged.

The decree of May 24 of last year did not suffer any modification, and the payment of taxes due in accordance with that decree will be made by the companies represented in the conference on Monday of next week, when they will renew operations smoothly behind the closed doors of the treasury department, and there were no further conferences between Secretary de la Huerta and President Obregon in the latter's office. After a four-hour conference there was an adjournment until 6 o'clock, at which hour the oil men appeared promptly. They were escorted with the secretary almost three hours, and then newspaper photographers were suddenly called into the conference room, giving a hint that the relations between the conference were cordial.

A few minutes later, the oil men filed out of the chamber, but maintained their policy of silence. They said Secretary de la Huerta had appointed the official and sole spokesman. The secretary later admitted that an agreement had been reached and that it lacked only the president's signature and the official. The secretary left immediately for Chapultepec castle and within an hour the oil men were suddenly called into the conference room, giving a hint that the relations between the conference were cordial.

Oil Men Satisfied.
The oil men declined to give out a formal statement, but in casual conversation they indicated they were pleased with the conference. Later they said they had nothing to add to Secretary de la Huerta's statement. They were unanimous in expressing themselves delighted with the manner in which the discussion

Not City Cabaret But Rural Dances Worry Reformers

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, September 4.—The rural barn dance, not the city cabaret, is what is worrying social workers. Mrs. Elizabeth L. Crandall, special agent of the United States social hygiene board, after five months' investigation, has come to the conclusion that it is time for the women's clubs in small cities and towns to wake up to the danger of the modern barn dance, unsupervised, with its attendant motor rides and moonshine, both kinds. She told the United News that some of these dances are being held in the "old barn grounds, roadhouses and picnic grounds have become social centers, even more menacing to society than the black and tan cabarets of the city," she said. "In a big city's worst cabarets the girls are already tough. But at these barn dances innocent, fun-loving girls are lured away by too much false romance and moonshine."

"Such music as they have at these rural dances," Barnard crowing, I call it. Really, it cannot be termed of rhythm, is a weird combination of slow and shrill noises. Add moonlight and moonshine, and you can imagine the rest of the picture. "Those hip to hip contortions known as the shimmy and the moonlight disappear if dance hall managers were forced to increase the number of the music and the moonlight altogether too many 'moonlight' Every other dance or so is a 'moonlight' and the music is slow. The orchestra leader told me that this slow music spoils the players' sense and tempo up to 75. The musicians would prefer to do a faster tempo. On Family Altars

In its report recommending the re-establishment of the family altar in the home as the next remedy for curing growing tendency toward vice, the Fulton county grand jury expressed its realization of what the churches of the nation have been preaching for centuries. The grand jury, composed of the county's leading business and professional men, met in session Sunday night.

The grand jury has come to the conclusion that there is no legal cure for the conditions that exist now and among our children. The only thing that can save the situation," the minister said. Not City Cabaret But Rural Dances Worry Reformers

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, September 4.—Some improvement in industrial conditions in the south is shown in the monthly survey of the employment service of the department of labor for August. The brightest spot in the south appears to be Florida, which reported practically no unemployment. Of the six cities for which reports were made, the unemployment rate was: Birmingham, 1.5 per cent; Atlanta, 2.7 per cent; New Orleans, 1.6 per cent; Memphis, 1.5 per cent; Richmond, 1.5 per cent; and St. Louis, 1.5 per cent.

Gratifying increases in railroad occupations and textiles have taken place. Fifteen railroad companies report a total employment of 22,912, an increase of 2,428 and 210 textile mills report total employment of 2,871, an increase of 2,871. Lumber products plants, numbering 10, report employment 8,191, a small increase. Twenty-two cotton gin operators in Virginia, employing 6,439, show a decrease of 126. Operators generally are discouraged as to the outlook while some express confidence that conditions will improve in the near future. Farm labor is abundant. Building is active in spots.

Improved Agricultural Implements are to the farmer what telephones and typewriters are to the business man

It is obviously impossible for the Citizens and Southern Bank to deal directly with farmers of the south, but it can—and does—help them to buy the machinery they need by dealing liberally with the men who sell it. The four offices of the Citizens and Southern, located in the four leading cities of the state, and its correspondents in practically every city in the south, keep it in close touch with the needs, desires and possibilities of the section. This information is always at the disposal of Citizens and Southern customers.
